DUNMORE DOINGS,

Miss Lizzie Kraus is home from a visit to Waverly and Nicholson friends. Services will be held at the Episcopal church every evening this week except Saturday.

Mrs. A. D. Blackington and Miss Blanch Bloes have returned from New York city. Robert Greeley, of Prompton, Wayne county, visited his brother, W. E. Greeley, last week. Rev. Fred Dreyer will address the Loyal Legion at their meeting next Saturday evening. Ed. Beyea, Harry Young and William Jones spent Saturday hunting near Elmhurst, They were successful. The lecture to be given on Friday evening, in Loyal Legion hall, promises to be very interesting. The admission is 15 cents for adults, and 10 cents for children. Veterans of the late war are invited to take front seats. For the past few nights Dunmore people have had all-night lights. Burgess Dugan's proposition for the borough to own their own plant and furnish their own lights seems to meet the approval of taxpayers generally.

The funeral of John Glencross will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of James Bryden. The services will be conducted by Rev. A. B. Neil, pastor of the Baptist church. Interment in Dunmore cemetery.

It Is Ingenious and Therefore in Demand. Entertainment by Whistler Williams. Funeral of Jabez Jenkins-Entertainment This Evening.

John T. Jones, hotel keeper on North Bromley avenue, has secured a patent for an ale condenser and cooler. The device is a most ingenious one, and Mr. Jones has worked industriously to perfect it. It can be made of either copper or tin, with a double faucet and two pipes. By a turn on one side of the faucet, the froth of the ale will come out, and when the other side is turned the condensed ale will appear. Mr. Jones has the condenser in operation at his hotel. Behind the faucet is a coil of pipe, around which the ice is placed. This keeps the liquid cold. He has received several communications from firms, asking the price of the patent, but is yet undecided whether to sell or work it himself.

Jahez Jenkins Buried.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Jabez Jenkins occurred Saturday afternoon from the home of his son, William O. Jenkins, on Lafayette street. Rev. Warren G. Partridge, of the Penn Avenue Baptist church officiated, assisted by Rev. D. C. Hughes, of the Jackson Street Baptist church. the remains rested in a beautiful black casket, upon which were placed many floral designs. Both clergymen referred to the many acts of kindness which the deceased has performed, and of his Christian spirit. After the services the remains were conveyed to the Washburn Street cemetery, where interment was made. The pall bearers were: George Coombs, John Davis, Richard Howells, Charles Coombs, David James and David Owens.

Court May Be Asked to Prevent Traction Company from Extending Its Tracks. Foot Ball at Stillwater-Minooka Team Is Vanquished.

Beech street property owners are not going to let up very easily. They pro pose to make the Traction company grade the street as they think it ought to be done or court will be asked to enjoin further work on its tracks. I would make a big item of expense to properly grade the street at the points in dispute and the company is passing them without going extensively into the grading business Select Councilman Charles Westpfahl promises to have the tangle straightened out in a day or two.

Minooka Team Downed.

A game of foot ball yesterday on the Stillwater grounds between the Olympic eleven, of the Twentieth ward, and the Mayflowers, of Minooka, terminated in a victory for the first named team by a score of 10 to 0. Wet grounds had a good deal to do with the poor play on both sides. The Minooka team, although decidedly amateur and young at the game, played with much snap, but the heroes of the Olympic eleven put up a better game and won. The Minooka team won a game from the Rushers, which is a team able to compete with the Olympics. An effort will be made to bring the two teams to gether again before the season closes.
